

BIG FOOT BALL GAMES START IN STATE TODAY

Clemson Plays At Centre and Ky. Wesleyan Meets U. of K. At Lexington

(By Associated Press)
Today's Football Games
Football games scheduled by Kentucky Colleges for today:
At Lexington—University of Kentucky vs. Kentucky Wesleyan.
At Danville—Centre College vs. Clemson College.
At Lexington—Transylvania College vs. Camp Knox.

(By Associated Press)
Lexington, Ky., Oct. 1.—"King football" this week-end takes complete charge of college activity in Kentucky. Beginning with the contest between Georgetown and Cumberland College on the Georgetown field today, the 1921 season will be formally and completely launched on three other college gridirons tomorrow.

The University of Kentucky will match its efforts against Kentucky Wesleyan College of Winchester on Stoll field in Lexington. Neither team has been in action. Wesleyan cancelling its contest with Centre last week, because the Winchester squad was not in condition to meet the heavy Danville team. The contest, however, is expected to give followers of the local team a line on what may be expected later in the season when the Wildcats meet Vanderbilt, Sewanee, Centre, Tennessee and Virginia Military Institute. Advance reports from the Kentucky campus have been to the effect that the Wildcats prospects this year are the best in several seasons. The Winchester squad is reported to be light but astute and with the additional week of training should be in good shape to test the football ability of the Lexington team.

The heavy Centre team also will get into action for the first time, clashing at Danville against the (S. C.) College. The Colonels are reported to have the best of prospects for a team that will repeat the feats of the famous eleven of the last four years and will be watched closely by gridiron followers of the state to get a line on what may be expected when the team travels to Cambridge on October 29 to meet Harvard. Little is known here of the strength of the Clemson team this year, but the South Carolina agricultural school usually turns out a fairly good team and is expected to give the Colonels a thorough workout to say the least.

Transylvania College is reported to have a better squad than last year, but officials of the school are reticent regarding the real strength of the prospective 1921 team. Followers of the famous old school, however, will be given a chance to get a line on what may be expected in later games in the contest with the soldier team from Camp Knox here tomorrow afternoon.

Unemployment Conference Makes Suggestion
(By Associated Press)
Washington, Oct. 1.—Method for initiating the emergency measures for the relief of the nation's involuntary idle, adopted by the National Conference on Unemployment are being considered today by Secretary Hoover and the executive officers of the Conference. One plan under consideration is said to contemplate a message to governors of states and mayors of all towns of 25,000 and over, asking immediate cooperation in putting the recommendation into effect. In addition, it is suggested President might by some official word call upon various federal, state and municipal authorities to combine in an offer to relieve the situation under the conference program.

AMONG BEADED BLOUSES

Here is a beaded blouse which will compel many an admiring glance wherever it is worn. For the theater dinner party or any other place where splendor-loving women undertake to look their best, it is sure to triumph. These two rivals in beautiful fabrics—crepe de chine and georgette—have joined forces in this blouse. Imagine it in sapphire blue crepe de chine with beaded lines on the sleeves made of black georgette similarly beaded.

CLOSE RACE FOR BATTING HONORS TWO BIG MEN COMING TO RICHMOND

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, Oct. 1.—The champion batter of the American League may not be known, until the last game of the season has been played. The race has settled down to a nip and tuck battle between Ty Cobb, pilot of the Detroit Tigers, and his hard hitting outfielder, Harry Heilmann, Babe Ruth is the dark horse for premier honors.
The Detroit sluggers, tied a week ago, are separated by one point, according to the average-released today and which include games of Wednesday. Heilmann is hitting .391, while his boss has a mark of .390, the former having participated in more games than the Georgia peach. Ruth is trailing the pair with an average of .280, a gain over his mark of a week ago of two points. Heilmann dropped three points while Cobb lost four. George Sisler, the St. Louis star, suffered a slight falling off in his stick work, but retains fourth place with .373, while Tris Speaker, manager of the world's champions, is holding fifth place with .358, a loss of 8 points.

Other leading batters for 400 or more games: Tobin St. Louis .345; E. Collins, Chicago, .339; Vezeh, Detroit, .336; Stanek, Chicago, .330.
Rogers Hornsby, of St. Louis is making a strong bid to be the first hitter to finish in the National League this season, with an average above the .400 mark since the days of Delehanty, who while with Philadelphia in 1899, topped the batters with an average of .408. If the St. Louis star, who is hitting .400, according to the averages released today, and which include Wednesday's game maintains his pace, he will enter the National League hall of fame with such men as Barnes, Chicago, who hit .403 in 1876, Cap Anson of Chicago, who finished in 1879 with .407; Stenzel, Pittsburgh, who averaged .409, in 1893; Duffy, of Boston, with .438, in 1894; Burckett, of Cleveland, who held the leadership in 1895 and 1896, with averages of .438 and .419, respectively, and Willie Keller, who as a member of the Baltimore club, in 1897, had a mark of .417.
Frank Frisch, of the Giants, retained his lead as the best base-stealer, despite the fact that he failed to add to his total of 47 of a week ago.
Ed Rousch, of Cincinnati, has made a great spurt in his hitting and has moved up to second place where he is trailing Hornsby with an average of .351, while McHenry, of St. Louis, and Cruise of Boston, have tied for third place with .349.
Other leading batters for 100 or more games: Fournier, St. Louis, .348; Jussel, New York, .343; Frisch, New York, .339; J. Smith, St. Louis, .333; Bigbee, Pittsburgh, .325; Johnston, Brooklyn, .324.
Jay Kirke, of Louisville, appears to have a safe hold on the batting honors of the American Association, as the averages show him hitting .383. He also is out in front for total base honors with 408 bases, acquired on 273 hits, which include 42 doubles, 15 triples, and 21 home runs. The real race is on for second place honors between Reb Russell of Minneapolis, who is hitting .368, Art Butler, of Kansas City, with .365, and Bunny Brief, another Kansas City slugger, with .363. Jim Thorpe, of Toledo, is on the heels of the trio with .360.

Boose Thieves Foiled

(By Associated Press)
Bardonia, Ky., Oct. 1.—Attempts of thieves to steal a truck load of whisky from the Tom Moore distillery, a half mile west of here, were frustrated shortly after midnight by the arrival of Guard Arthur Thompson. The gang had removed the locks from the warehouse door and removed two barrels of liquor but when they saw Thompson's flash light, they fled leaving the liquor behind. Government officials are investigating today but without a clue.

Federal Authorities To Investigate "Fatty's" Party

(By Associated Press)
San Francisco, Oct. 1.—New angles in the federal inquiry into source of liquor at Fatty Arbuckle's hotel party, where Virginia Rappe suffered fatal injuries, were at the front here today. Federal Attorney McCormack announced he soon would make complaint against Arbuckle, charging him with having liquor unlawfully in his possession. This will be made the basis for a grand jury charge. "Two, including a prominent business man here," McCormack said, "would be included in the charges."

FOX HUNTERS GET INVITATION TO OHIO

Big Meeting of Ohio and Kentucky Fox Hunters To Be Held At West Union, Oct. 24

Several local fox hunters may attend the joint meeting of Ohio and Kentucky fox hunters which is to be held at West Union, Ohio, October 24. A. G. Turnipseed, who is well known here where he has often attended hunts, sends the local hunters the following notice of this meeting:

The annual meet of the Kentucky and Ohio Fox Hunters' Association, will take place at West Union, Ohio, the week of October 24, and continue through the week. The 24th will be registration day and the derby races will begin on Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock. Headquarters at the Northside Hotel. Dogs shipped to this hotel will be well taken care of free of charge until the owner arrives. West Union, O., is noted as a hospitable place to hold a hunt. Plenty of foxes and nice ground to run on close to the town.—A. G. Turnipseed, Sec.

BIG REVIVAL AT FLATWOODS

The Flatwoods Christian church is enjoying a fine revival under the preaching of its regular pastor, Dr. E. C. McDougle. Thirty converts are to be baptized this evening at 5 o'clock, twenty-five of whom have come forward in the past three days. Among the new members are prominent people of the community, and many more are expected to connect themselves with the church before the meeting closes. The attendance at all services, both day and night, has been large and the entire community has been deeply stirred by the sermons. Dr. McDougle will begin a 15-day meeting with the Pond church on the Barnes Mill pike, on the second Sunday in October.

ROBERTS ON BALLOT AGAINST EVERSOLE

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 1.—The name of Commonwealth Attorney R. B. Roberts, Hyden, will go on the ballot as Independent candidate for Judge of the 33rd District. The Court of Appeals Friday, directed Secretary of State, Fred A. Vaughan, to put his name on, holding that the non-partisan judiciary act excepts candidates for judge from the law prohibiting defeated candidates in a primary from running for the same office in the general election. Roberts was defeated for the republican nomination by Judge John C. Eversole.

KIRKSVILLE

Miss Jane Long spent last Friday night with Miss Anna Mae Parrish.
The Kirksville boys of the school base ball team went to play Paint Lick Thursday afternoon.

London, Oct. 1.—Eamon de Valera today sent a communication to Prime Minister Lloyd-George accepting the invitation to a conference in London, October 11, with a view to a settlement of the Irish question.

AUTO THIEVES GET GEO. FAWKES' CAR

Automobile thieves seem to be busy in Richmond again. One one took the Ford roadster belonging to George Fawkes, manager of the Kentucky Utilities Company, from in front of the Opera House, Friday night. Mr. Fawkes parked it in the middle of the street and when he came out after the show it was gone.

The car bore license No. 148,376, engine number 3549314. The left rear fender was partly rusted through the center. Mr. Fawkes will be glad to pay a liberal reward to anyone who may find his car, which he needs badly in his business. Police have several clues and are going to follow them down to the limit.

REVIVAL AT SECOND CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The revival at the Second Christian church will close with the Sunday evening service. The meeting has been attended by large crowds and the sermons by Rev. Cleo Purvis have been full of interest and great good has been accomplished. 27 additions have added to the church. Saturday evening, Rev. Purvis will have for his subject "Five Minutes After Death." Services Sunday, Bible school at 9:45; morning service at 11 o'clock, Junior Christian Endeavor and evening service at the usual hour. Everybody cordially invited to these services.

Miners To Meet In February To Make New Wage Scale

(By Associated Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 1.—By an overwhelming vote the United Mine Workers in convention here today, adopted President Lewis' recommendation to postpone until next February the formulation of demands to be made by the miners in negotiating new wage agreements to supplant the agreements with operators which expire next March 31st.

The convention will be reassembled to frame the demands. Delegates showed opposition to any wage reduction by pledging financial support to Colorado and Washington miners in their fight to maintain the present wage scale.

No Homes For N. Y. Thousands

(By Associated Press)
New York, Oct. 1.—Conditions connected with New York's annual fall moving day were the most chaotic in the city's history. A check of the full number of families against the number of apartments available, showed 69,797 families for whom there are no homes at all. They presumably are on their way to hotels and to the country. Even if there had been homes for all, there are only 25,000 moving vans available for joint use of movers, who all told, number a hundred thousand.

COMMUNICATION FROM JUDGE J. A. SULLIVAN

Local Regent of Normal Tells of Its Fine Work and Gives Other Views

(Regent Sullivan says Board of Regents of Normal School was not controlled by politics in selection, or non-selection, of any teacher or in lowering or raising salaries. Also says entire Board unanimously in favor of both Constitutional Amendments and also favor movement to lengthen college course and grant degrees of B. S. and A. B. Normal has largest and strongest faculty and brightest outlook in its history.)

TO THE PUBLIC: (Especially of Richmond and Madison County)

As local Regent of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School, I think it is entirely proper for me to make his public statement:

Work and Condition of the Normal

On August 19, 1921, the Normal School closed the most successful year in its history. The enrollment for the year in the entire Normal was 1623 in actual attendance; of these, 1425 were in the Normal School proper (of which 367 were male and 1058 female). The enrollment in the Model School was 1896 of which 84 were male and 1114 female. The law requires the Model School to be maintained; the purpose being for the pupils in the Normal who are being trained to become competent teachers, to be able to see and observe a school as a model to follow as they go forth as trained teachers from the Normal; and the practice school is for the purpose of maintaining a school where teachers may do practice teaching under the supervision of skilled critic teachers, who acquaint the Normal School pupils of their deficiencies.

When the Normal School was established in 1906, there was not a high school in a single county in all Kentucky to which county boys and girls could go and attend without paying tuition. Now there are 398 such high schools in Kentucky. In supporting a high school here in our Normal School, the Board of Regents had a double idea: (1) To be a Model high school, and for the benefit of high school pupils, and (2) to aid the people of Madison county outside of Richmond to provide high school education for their children, and as the City of Richmond already had a good high school, which its youth could attend, free tuition, and as the county had no such high school, we, of course, gave preference to the country youth. We could not take all of the pupils who applied for admission as our space for High School was and is quite limited. I also desire to emphasize the fact that we in no sense have desired, or now desire, to have a school for the exclusive or for the wealthy alone, or for the supposed blueblood; for as between the blueblood and the redblood, I prefer the redblooded youth, for it is upon them we depend more in time of war and of peace for offense and defense. Increasing numbers of our Kentucky youth come here from other counties who have no high schools to attend, and such people must have the preference over those who have high schools of their own which they may attend with free tuition.

Our Normal School desires to prepare competent teachers, not only for the graded common schools of Kentucky, but also for the county and city high schools. Hence the increasing importance of the Normal School being able to give high school education to all would-be progressive teachers who apply for it.

Since President Coates has had charge of our Normal School, we have opened a very thorough Extension Department. During the past year we have had 321 pupils who could not, because of lack of funds or other reasons, attend our Normal School in person and have taken extension courses and they have all made most satisfactory progress, and will attend our Normal School to finish their full courses hereafter.

The last General Assembly, under the leadership of Hon. George Colvin, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, passed some very wise and long-needed educational legislation. Kentucky school teachers were among the

YOUNG WILLIAMS

Mrs. D. J. Williams has received a very complimentary letter from his commanding officer at Camp Knox, telling of the fine work that David J. Williams, Jr., has been doing with the soldier boys there. The many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Williams and the popular young man will read what it said with much interest:

Co. E, C. M. T. C. Camp Knox, Ky., Aug. 20, '21.
Mrs. D. J. Williams,
Richmond, Ky.

Dear Madam—
I take great pleasure in informing you that your son has successfully passed the course at this camp.

Madam, I am at a loss to know just what to say in order that you may understand just what his presence has meant to me and to our platoon. He has been my second in command of the first platoon, and it is due to his excellent work to a large degree that our platoon is known as one of the best, if not the best, in the entire regiment.

He has cheerfully, willingly, efficiently carried out the orders of the Company Commander and myself under all conditions. When I have been on special duty elsewhere, I have not worried for I have known that the platoon was being taken care of as well as if I were there. In fact, it was during my absence that the platoon, and he especially, were congratulated by the commanding General, General Lassiter. No one else has, to the best of my belief and knowledge, been so honored during this camp.

I have recommended that he be transferred to the Blue Course and am not hesitant to say that I am also recommending him for a commission as an officer in the Officers' Reserve Corps which is the highest possible position I can recommend for.

Madam, it is to such young men as your son, that this nation looks for its great leaders of the future; leaders not only in war, which is abhorrent to all of us, especially those of us who have seen it, but leaders in peace as well. Congratulating you on having such a fine son and on the record he has made here, I am, yours truly,

GLENN E. CAROTHERS
1st. Lieut. 2nd Inf. U. S. A. Com.
1st Platoon, Co. E, C. M. T. C.

Sam Shackelford, of Mercer county, who had been seriously ill for several days, underwent an operation and a six-penny nail was removed from his intestines. He does not remember having swallowed it.

POPULAR RICHMOND GIRL TO TAKE CHARGE OF WINCHESTER THEATRES

MISS ANNA BELL WARD

The many friends of Miss Anna Bell Ward will regret to learn that she and her sisters and brother, Misses Adeline, Fern and Nelson Ward, are completing their arrangements for their departure to Winchester, where they will be in charge of the theatres there. They take possession next Monday, and Mr. Erd, who has been in charge of the Winchester theatres, will arrive Monday with his sister, Miss Elizabeth Seamon, to manage the two Richmond theatres.

While friends of Miss Ward noticed that she had been absent from her duties here lately, no one had the slightest idea that she was scouting for new fields of labor, and when she made the announcement early in the week that she and her brother had bought interests in the Winchester theatres, and would make it their future home, it came as a surprise to her many friends here.

Miss Ward stated that she will still be connected with the Phoenix Amusement Company, and will continue to serve on the board of directors, as she owns quite a large amount of stock in that company. She has always been recognized as one of the most capable managers among their large chain of theatres over this state, and the Phoenix Amusement Company would suffer quite a loss if she severed her connections with them.

Miss Anna Bell Ward, as she is more familiarly known around this city, has managed theatres ever since she was a little girl 15 years old, and according to the reports of the representatives of the big picture producers who come to Richmond to interest her in their latest productions, she talks to them like she was an "old head," but she isn't an "old maid" yet by any means.

She was first in charge of the theatres at Maysville, where she capably managed them for nearly two years. It was there that the church people found that she could do more than just manage theatres. They recognized in her voice a high lyric soprano, which is very rare in the musical world, and she was asked to take charge of the music in one of the leading churches of that city, and under her direction, a choir was organized and the musical program each Sunday was a feature and drew large crowds to the services. She was loved and admired by the whole community, and Maysville's loss was Richmond's gain when she bought the old Alhambra Theatre here.

When she came to Richmond in 1915, the theatre business was at a low ebb. This fact, however, didn't bluff her, she closed the deal with the Richmond managers and then took a ten year lease on the building. Her next move was to remodel the building within and out, and when the work was completed, she gave to this city a theatre in which they might feel justly proud. She then organized a company with a capital stock of $20,000. Having a distaste for competition, she bought the lease on the Opera House, which was being managed by Mr. W. P. Baxter for the Odd Fellows, who own the building. She then transferred her Richmond holdings to the Phoenix Amusement Company, of Lexington, who increased their capitalization to $600,000, and Miss Ward became one of their largest stockholders, and was retained as manager of the Richmond theatres, which she made one of the best paying propositions for her company, having worked faithfully for the last six years until the present time, when she now two Winchester theatres and for them to send a new manager here.

Miss Anna Bell Ward is not a native of this state, but comes from an old Virginia family, who migrated to this country with the early settlers, who fought for their rights and helped to make America the best place in all the world in which to live. She came to Kentucky when she was but a small child and has lived in the bluegrass so long that she counts herself a native, and thinks there is no place like "My Old Kentucky Home."

Miss Ward, besides being a splendid business woman, is gifted with many talents. According to a write-up which appeared in a Winchester paper this week, she is a graduate of the Cincinnati College of Music, an all-round athlete, now holding the state championship as long distance swimmer and even with the thousands and one worries which managers of theatres have to contend with, she is always ready to join her companions and friends for a motor trip, boat ride, swimming parties and other athletic sports.

There is no family in Richmond more popular than the Wards. They have always conducted themselves as ladies and gentlemen, and have won themselves into the hearts of the people here, who will regret to see them leave, but wish them abundant success in their new field of labor.

Mr. Erd, the new manager of the Richmond theatres, and his sister, who comes to have charge of the music, come very highly recommended, and deserve the continued support accorded its former manager.—(Contributed).

Communication From Sullivan

very lowest paid in all the states and the new law provided for increases in salary to be paid to teachers, and also provided for increases in the teacher's ability and efficiency; and that ultimately, as time progresses, teachers should attend normal schools and become better prepared for their work. The system of examining and grading papers for teachers and applicants for certificates was changed, and this year on fair and impartial examination, it developed in many counties that more than one-half of the common school teachers failed to pass, and were, therefore, found to be unqualified to teach school at all.

Summer Normals Opened

In order to give all teachers a chance for improvement and to become competent teachers, 33 normal schools were opened this summer in this Normal District, to which all teachers could go free of tuition and take a thorough course, under competent teachers. In these summer normals, there was an attendance of 1322 pupil-teachers; and the Summer School here, at our Normal, had nearly as large an attendance as last summer, 1920. Thirty of the said summer normals were under the direction and control of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School, but they were entirely voluntary as there was no law requiring them to be established or the pupils to attend them.

I will admit that I doubted if these schools could be maintained successfully when our Board of Regents, with State Superintendent Colvin, first considered the movement of extension schools for the purpose of giving the teachers an opportunity to attend school, and under the direction of competent teachers to themselves become more competent and proficient teachers. I admit I had other counties, due in part, no underestimated the degree of doubt, to Berea College of the thirteenth or more knowledge shown by the teachers of our district.

Superintendent Colvin and his Department rendered every aid possible under the law to make these summer normals successful. In the enrollment of all departments of the Normal School this year—those in the Extension Department, and those attending the local Summer School—the number aggregated 3322 pupils. The number sent by the bluegrass section was 1051 pupils. I regret to say that Madison county furnished only 187 pupils, which is much lower than it should be, and far lower than the number in Warren attending its Normal School, and which has about the same population as Madison.

Tuition to the Normal School is free when the pupils have an appointment from the County Superintendent of their county. It is a matter of deep regret that attention to that does not seem to prevail in Madison county among all our people. There are on per capita basis more white illiterate people in Madison than in any other county in the Blue Grass. I blush with shame to say this, but one cause of this illiteracy is the failure of the white parents in not compelling their children to attend the schools to which they are entitled to go, free of tuition. Even the mountain county of Laurel has on a per capita basis less illiteracy among its white people than Madison, according to the last census. This must be true of Laurel because of that splendid school named Sue Bennett Memorial and the fact that the white people of Laurel have taken full advantage of their opportunities while the white people of Madison have not done so. When brought to view on a per capita basis there is less illiteracy among the negroes of Madison than in any other county, due in part, no

Madison Has Best Negroes

Judge J. R. Morton was Circuit Judge of all the Blue Grass for about ten years. He was a close observer and philosopher; and he said to me, "Here, Madison county has the best negro population in all the Blue Grass, and Scott has the worst. It is rare for a negro to be indicted for offense against another negro in Madison county, and still more rare for a negro to be indicted for offense against a white man. This is a tribute to old Madison masters in slave times."

When on progressive questions the intelligence and patriotism of the negro in Richmond and in Madison county have been appealed to, they have always responded nobly. Their vote on the recent bond issue to erect a school building for the white high school proves it.

Increase of Dormitory Facilities

By the addition to Memorial Hall (the boys' dormitory) recently completed, we can now accommodate 99 more boys than we could before its erection; and by the erection and completion of the first unit of Burnam Hall, we can now accommodate 168 more girls than before. However, by the large crowd of pupils which flocked into the halls at the opening of this term, September 19th, 1921, there is no doubt in my mind but that the Normal School will be compelled to depend upon the good people of Richmond for rooms as before, and I am sure the people will furnish rooms for reasonable cost to the students.

At the recent opening of the Normal School proper alone, there were 366 students—126 boys and 240 girls—and they have come to spend the whole school year here. This is by over 60 percent the largest opening attendance we have ever had, and the number is steadily increasing.

We hope at the next General Assembly funds will be allowed to erect and complete the central unit of Burnam Hall, but both units of this Hall should be erected at an early date. The school is also badly in need of a new gymnasium building, as the old frame building was destroyed by fire about one year ago.

The faculty now numbers 35 professors and teachers, and is the largest and strongest we have ever had, notwithstanding the fact that we lost in the recent past some excellent teachers.

No Politics in Board of Regents

I have been surprised by friends out in the State whose friendship for me and the Normal School I cannot doubt, inquiring and stating that rumors have reached them that Governor Morrow and Superintendent Colvin had succeeded in injecting into the Board of Regents politics in the election and non-election of teachers, and in the increasing and decreasing of salaries, and they wanted to know whether or not such rumors were true. I answer all by saying that they are wholly untrue, no matter by whom or why they were uttered. Politics has never been attempted to be used in anything connected with the election of the faculty, or any member of it. We have acted as brothers, free of politics and have acted unanimously. When Judge A. R. Burnam and I drew the law creating the Normal School system, it was provided that two of the Regents should be Democrats and two Republicans, and we meant for them to be real Democrats and real Republicans. There has been objection to my being too strong a Democrat, and similar objection was made to Senator Brock being too strong a Republican, but these objections were ignored by Gov. Willson, and Gov.

McCreary to whom they were made.

Regents in Favor of Both Constitutional Amendments

President Coates and every member of the Board of Regents favor the two constitutional amendments to be voted on next November. They are also favorably by the present faculties of nearly every educational institution in Kentucky, public and private. They are favored by the President and faculty of Centre College, Transylvania, State University, Nazareth, St. Mary's, Sue Bennett and Eastern Normal and by every leading educator of Kentucky except only a few disappointed and disgruntled ones.

One objection urged to the Amendments is that Colvin favors them, and so he does, as he favors all worthwhile educational movements, and it is said that Supt. Colvin wants another term as State Superintendent of Public Instruction, but Gov. Morrow has said whom he would appoint on the State Board of nine members, five of these to be Democrats and Supt. Colvin says that he does not want the second term. The trouble is that more has been done in educational matters during the terms of J. G. Crabbe and George Colvin than any other two terms in the past 50 years. Colvin's great success has aroused the jealousy of some and the anger of others, while still others say that these amendments are Mr. Colvin's amendments. If he is the author of them, they are worthy and I endorse them. They have the endorsement of that great organized body—the Kentucky Educational Association. I think Dr. R. N. Roark, whom I consider one of the greatest educational leaders Kentucky ever had, first mentioned the need of such amendments to me, and that was 15 years ago, shortly after he was elected President of the Normal School. Dr. Roark stated that the system of electing a State Superintendent was more injurious than to elect at the polls a county or a city superintendent, or the president of the Normal School in that way. It was far more difficult to get the right man for the office. The demands of the times require that the State Superintendent of Public Instruction be a well educated and well trained man, and a scholar; and it is quite rare that such a person will enter politics for a public position. It would require much time and money, and the result would be uncertain. I voted against the present State Constitution for reason that it enters the field of legislation and attempts to make permanent and to a degree unchangeable what should be left to our General Assembly with power to change from time to time as needed.

Effect of Constitutional Amendment

The effect of adopting Amendment No. 1 would be to leave to the discretion of the General Assembly the manner in which the office of State Superintendent be filled, and if experience shows that election will not be as good as when elected by vote of the people at the polls, then the general assembly can recur to the present method of election.

When I was a boy, the great question was whether or not he was a Methodist or a Baptist or some minister; the question was not at all whether or not he was a trained educator. In recent years, we have made some progress from that line, and we have made been occasionally electing educated men and trained teachers for State Superintendent.

The present Constitution of Kentucky requires all the school fund to be distributed on a per capita basis among all the schools—white and black. None of it can be used for any other educational purpose. When Dr. Roark talked to me about the proposed amendments, there was not in all Kentucky a high school that a country boy or girl had a right to attend free of tuition. Dr. Roark said that he hoped the Constitution would be amended so that some of the school fund could be used for establishing high schools throughout Kentucky. For instance, the thought that he law could provide for aid to local communities in establishing high schools, providing the local communities should meet such conditions as set forth under the law.

But I do believe the Chief Executive of a state or city should be elected by the people, and do not think the people should ever surrender or shirk this right.

This very question of electing a Mayor at the polls was considered by our own people in the winter of 1883-1884, and during all these discussions, we had with us such leaders as Gov. James B. McCreary, Hon. W. B. Smith, Judge T. J. Scott, Judge C. H. Breck and J. R. Burnam among the Democrats; and among the Republicans, C. F. and A. R. Burnam, J. W. Caperton and Senator Bennett. Of all of the persons named, only one remains. He is Hon. W. B. Smith, who still lives with us, with a mind as clear and alert and step as quick as of old though he is now ninety years of age. After all this discussion in private conversation, public discussion in the court house and in the press our people finally all agreed that the Mayor should be elected by the people and a charter was agreed by all, so providing and also advancing Richmond to the grade of being a city and Hon. Jas. R. Burnam therein the Kentucky House and Hon. John Bennett then in the Kentucky Senate had this charter passed by both bodies, unanimously. Richmond then began to grow and improve as it had never done before in all its history.

PRIEST KEEPS VIGIL OVER DEAD

Young Clergyman Dwells Amid Coffins of 300,000 Defenders of Verdun.

HUT GIVEN BY AMERICANS

Wooden Structure Used by Priest Until Permanent Monument Can Be Erected to Heroes of the Great War.

Paris.—A mile from Fort Douaumont, which looks down on the wasted city of Verdun, France, and its ring of defenses, lives a priest who never smiles. He is young, clear-eyed, and does not need the ribbon of the Legion of Honor nor the Cross of War with the palm that he wears to tell that he has served. He lives today in a wooden hut with the bones of 300,000 of his countrymen, the defenders of Verdun.

This has softened the sharper outlines of his surroundings, and from a distance seems to have given the 12 mile battle front a green carpet. In reality, trenches have slumped in. The rim of shell holes have been rounded by rains, and frosts and melting snows. Acres of tangled rusted barbed wire have been hidden under weeds and shrubbery.

Rifle Barrel Marks Grave.
Some inches of rusted rifle barrel protrude from the soil to mark a grave the workmen have not reached. Fragments of leather and cloth equipment lie scattered about, and even along the more frequented paths one stumbles over bones.

The wooden hut where M. L'Abbe Noel lives is perhaps 20 feet wide and 40 feet long, the gift of an American committee. At the end opposite the entrance is the altar, and, forming an aisle, are tiers of coffin-shaped boxes with the lids resting loosely upon them. Each box is placarded with the names of the sector along the Verdun front where the fragment was found.

Flowers Blanket Coffins.
Many of the coffins are heaped high with flowers and wreaths, and on all are visiting cards put there by those whose memories center about the locality named on the box. Of the 400,000 French who died at Verdun, said the abbe, 300,000 will never be identified. An "ossuaire" is to be erected on this spot, and in it will be placed these "sacred bones," where they will rest. Each sector will have a spot designated for it, where now there is a wooden box.

Four shrines, Catholic, Protestant, Jewish and Musselman, will be grouped about the ossuaire. Each day adds to the collection that is gathering in the temporary wooden hut which serves until the permanent structure is completed.

On the nearest hill is a wooden cross, built and erected by Marshal Foch for the dead of his armies. A few yards away is the grave of a French commander, General Anselin, killed in action. Not far distant and over the crest of the hill is the massive concrete monument built over the "Trench of Bayonets" where an entire company died as they waited rifles in their hands, the bugle call to charge. Their bodies have never been disinterred and the protruding rifles with bayonets fixed are still clutched by the soldiers whose graves they mark, as though waiting for the long-delayed command to go forward.

WHO FOUNDED ST. LOUIS?

Historical Society There Debates Question Before Erecting Monument Commemorating Event.

St. Louis.—The offer of the newly formed St. Louis Historical society to erect a group monument here to commemorate the founding of the city February 15, 1764, with the suggestion that the central figure be Rene-Auguste Chouteau, surrounded by a group of pioneers, including Laclede, has reopened the old question as to who was the actual founder of this city. Chouteau has been regarded by many historians as Laclede's lieutenant.

The society has had the inscription on Chouteau's tomb, showing the date of his birth at 1740, recut. Records show that if the date were correct, Chouteau's mother was only seven years old at the time of his birth.

Eggs Taken From Snake Hatched Chicks in Africa

A story of chicken eggs hatched after they had been salvaged from the interior of a python is told by the publicity department of the board of missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, in New York city. Quoting Rev. Edwin H. Richards, for 31 years a missionary in Africa, the board said that a python had wriggled out of a jungle one night, entered a hen house and eaten eight chickens and nine eggs. Nations and missionaries killed the snake, which then was opened. The eggs, found intact, later hatched into perfectly normal, healthy chickens.

Studebaker

This is a Studebaker year

For the first eight months of 1921, our sales of Studebaker Cars were 41 per cent greater than for the same period of 1920, and 401 per cent greater than for the same period of 1919. For the same period, our sales of Repair Parts were 13 per cent less than in 1920, and 3 per cent less than 1919.

On September 1, 1921, there were approximately 116,000 more Studebaker Cars in operation than two years ago, and yet our parts business 3 per cent less than it was in 1919. This proves conclusively that—

Studebaker Cars are standing up in service and staying out of repair shops, to a degree unexcelled, we believe, by any cars of whatever price.

Bids will be received until 2 p. m., October 12, 1921, by Mr. John Howard Payne, Clerk of the Board of Education, Richmond, Ky., at the office of John Noland, on a twenty room school building. A certified check or preliminary bond of 5 percent must accompany the bid. Plans can be procured from C. C. and E. A. Weber, Architects, Third and Walnut street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

In response to the inquiry of many telephone subscribers: "What can I do to help my service?" this advertisement is published.

The Right Way Saves Annoyance

There are two ways to call a telephone number.

The wrong way is to call from memory; to "take a chance," to trust to luck that your memory doesn't play a trick on you, with the fickle figures in a telephone number.

The right way is to consult the Telephone Directory before calling and make sure you have the right number.

RED CROSS WORKING FOR HEALTHIER U. S.

Thousands Aided by Instruction in Care of the Sick, Food Selection and First Aid.

How the American Red Cross guides thousands of persons to health is shown in a summary of the society's activities in the health field based upon the annual report for the last fiscal year. Through its Nursing Service, its Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick courses, nutrition classes, First Aid classes, Life-Saving classes and Health Centers and in numerous other ways designed to acquaint masses of citizens with proper methods of living, the Red Cross carried its message of health into all parts of the country.

The work of the Red Cross during the war in its traditional field of nursing, furnishing the military and naval establishments of the nation with 12,877 nurses, is well known. And there are today 87,787 nurses registered with the American Red Cross and subject to call in emergency. During the fiscal year, 1,551 Red Cross nurses were accepted for assignment to government service, 388 by the Army and Navy and 1,163 by the United States Public Health Service.

In addition to the nurses accepted by the Red Cross for government service, the Red Cross itself employed a total of 1,348 public health nurses in the United States and 1,257, 696 in foreign service.

Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick classes, giving thorough instruction in the proper care of the sick in instances where the illness is not so serious as to require professional nursing care, during the fiscal year numbered 5,178. A statistical picture of the Red Cross operations in this field follows:

New classes formed during year..... 5,178
Classes completed during year..... 4,229
New students enrolled..... 18,492
Students completing course..... 12,432

What the Red Cross accomplished in giving proper instruction through its Nutrition Service is indicated by the following table:

New classes formed during year..... 1,186
Classes completed during year..... 2,341
New students enrolled..... 2,912
Students completing course..... 2,012

In addition to the above, 25,000 children were given instruction in the proper selection and preparation of foods.

Through its 280 Health Centers, the Red Cross reached 90,252 persons; at these Health Centers, 4,475 health lectures were given and 780 health exhibits held.

In the United States last year, 70,432 persons were killed and 3,699,000 injured in industrial accidents. To prevent this enormous waste the Red Cross held 3,100 first aid classes with a total of 104,000 students enrolled.

RED CROSS RESCUED 600,000 FROM DEATH

Spent $1,200,000 for Relief of Famine Sufferers in China
Last Year.

To help overcome conditions of acute distress in five famine-stricken provinces of Northern China, where millions of persons were affected by an unprecedented shortage of food, the American Red Cross during the last fiscal year spent more than $1,200,000 of which was contributed directly by National Headquarters and the remainder by various groups interested in the welfare of China.

Through the wide relief operations thus made possible it is estimated that more than 600,000 famine sufferers were saved from starvation.

To the end that similar prompt relief measures by the organization may always be possible the Red Cross is asking continued support by the American people by universal renewal of membership at the Annual Red Cross Roll Call, November 11 to 24.

The method of relief employed by the American Red Cross in its operations in China was particularly effective, for in addition to saving hundreds of thousands of lives it provided China with more than 900 miles of permanent roads that are sorely needed to prevent a recurrence of famine. At one time the Red Cross employed 74,000 Chinese workmen, paying them in food for themselves and dependents, this food being brought in from Manchuria and elsewhere.

850 DISASTER DEATH TOLL FOR ONE YEAR

Red Cross Gives $1,871,000 Relief When 65,000 Families
Are Made Homeless.

Forty-three disasters, resulting in the death in the United States of 850 persons and the injury of 2,600 called for emergency relief measures and the expenditure of $1,871,000 by the American Red Cross during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, says an announcement based upon the forthcoming annual report of the Red Cross. These disasters caused property damage estimated at $80,000,000, affected sixty-seven communities and rendered 65,000 families homeless.

The year's disasters were of varying types, including several which previously had never been thought of as falling within that classification. The Red Cross furnished relief in seventeen fires of magnitude fire floods, seven tornadoes or cyclones, one devastating storm, three explosions, including the one in Wall street, one building accident, two typhoid epidemics, the most serious being that at Salem, Ohio, which affected a part of the population, one smallpox epidemic, in the republic of Haiti, one train wreck, the race riot at Tulsa, Okla., the famine in China, emergency relief in famine among the Indians of Alaska, the grasshopper plague in North Dakota and an earthquake in Italy.

Pueblo, Most Serious
By far the most severe of the disasters in the United States during the period covered by the Red Cross report was the Pueblo flood early in June, 1921. The rehabilitation problem confronting the Red Cross in Pueblo was one of the most difficult in recent years. When the first news of the horror was flashed throughout the country, the American Red Cross National Headquarters responded with a grant of $103,000 for relief work. Governor Shoup of Colorado, appreciating the long and successful experience of the Red Cross in organizing disaster relief work, placed the entire responsibility for the administration of relief in its hands.

In response to appeals from President Harding, Governor Shoup and other governors of western states and through local chapters of the Red Cross and other community organizations, public-spirited citizens brought the total contributed for Pueblo's rehabilitation to more than $325,000.

The terrible havoc wrought by the flood, says a matter of record, more than 2,800 homes were affected, 1,735 persons were left homeless. Estimates of $300,000 as an absolute minimum for rehabilitation were made by Red Cross officials in charge of relief work.

Fast Work in Wall Street
The Wall street explosion was notable in that relief workers of the Red Cross were on the scene twenty minutes after the disaster occurred. The race riot at Tulsa also was unique in disaster relief annals in that outside of a small emergency relief fund contributed by the Red Cross, the only relief measures outside the city consisted of the service of social workers, nurses and a trained executive whose object was to assist local forces in disposing their own efforts.

In decided contrast with the previous year, only one tornado assumed the proportions of a major disaster. This occurred on April 15, in the border sections of Texas and Arkansas, with the city of Texarkana as the center. The significant feature of this disaster relief work was the fact that it covered so much rural territory as to make necessary a large number of relief workers.

The famine in China, necessitating relief expenditures totalling more than $1,000,000 by the American Red Cross was by far the most serious of the foreign disasters in which the Red Cross gave aid.

Builds Up Its Machinery

In connection with the administration of disaster relief measures, an increasing effectiveness on the part of the Red Cross in dealing with emergencies was manifested during the past year. In 323 Chapters of the American Red Cross there have been formed special committees to survey the resources of their respective communities and to be prepared in case of disaster. In other of the 3,402 active Chapters, a network of communication has been formed through which instantaneous relief may be dispatched to any part of the United States.

That its work in this field may be continued with ever greater effectiveness, the American Red Cross is appealing for widespread renewal of membership during its Annual Roll Call, to be conducted this year from November 11 to 24.

LIFE-SAVING CORPS ENROLLMENT 10,000

Growth of Red Cross Life Saving Corps throughout the country continued unabated during the last fiscal year, a summary of the year's achievements by that Red Cross Service shows. There are now 180 Corps with a total membership of more than 10,000 members, of which 1,276 are sufficiently skilled in the work to act as examiners. Among the outstanding achievements of the Red Cross in this field during the last year was the organization at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, of what is perhaps the largest life saving corps in the world.

Mrs. Hite Adams, 62, is dead at Nicholasville.

FARMERS SHOULD DELAY WHEAT SOWING

Delaying the sowing of wheat until after the Hessian flies have made their appearance or until after the dates shown on the map is the surest way that farmers in Madison and surrounding counties have of preventing injury to their crops by these pests, according to a warning issued by Harrison Garman, entomologist at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Investigations have shown that as a general rule Oct. 5 is a safe date for sowing in this section, according to Mr. Garman. Sowing should be done as soon as possible after that date in order to give the grain a start before winter arrives.

According to entomologists, the flies come out as adults during September and lay their eggs on the young plants, the damage being done in the fall by the insects which hatch. These young become the fly-seed stage of the pests later in the season and remain in this condition on the wheat plants until the following spring when a new brood does additional damage. If the sowing is delayed until after the safe date no damage will be done since the flies will have disappeared before the wheat gets above the ground. Some eggs may be placed on volunteer wheat and for this reason plans of this kind should be destroyed in order to prevent damage. It is necessary for all wheat growers to delay sowing until after the safe date if injury is to be prevented in the entire community since the young flies may spread from infested fields in the spring, Mr. Garman said.

Fertilizing all wheat land outside of the blue grass area with some phosphate fertilizer at the rate of 200 pounds an acre of acid phosphate or basic slag or 100 to 150 pounds of steamed bone meal which should be drilled in with the seed by means of a fertilizer attachment will be found helpful in obtaining a good stand of wheat, according to specialists at the station.
